

Castler Job Posts

Location: Delhi

1. Head of Technology

Roles & Responsibilities:

- You would be responsible for Engineering & technology proficiency of Castler's platforms and products
- You would be responsible for Backend, Frontend, Infrastructure, Architecture, Scalability, server-side engineering, UI, and all other technical aspects of the product
- You will tackle some of the most challenging problems with high-performance interaction, connected-system integration, and more.
- You would drive timely and successful delivery of the technology solutions.
- You will manage effective functioning and provide ongoing support for other activities related to technology.
- Own all initiatives to develop and scale technology, execute an aggressive roadmap, institute best engineering practices, and deliver innovative products
- You will actively guide and mentor project managers, developers, architects and quality analysts, driving top-quality engineering culture in all respects.
- You would drive innovative use of engineering processes, tools, infrastructure.

Qualifications

- Engineering graduates from premiere institutes
- Minimum 12 years IT engineering technology development experience
- minimum 3 years as head of the function for product development or handling large products
- Experience of executing end-to-end projects collaborating with cross-functional teams
- Technically hands on. Must have recent experience on object-oriented design of major components, writing or reviewing code.
- Previous experience of Java technologies, frameworks, MEAN stack & latest technologies.
- Excellent team management skills and leadership qualities, with high level of responsibility and accountability